

FACULTY OF FOOD SCIENCE AND NUTRITION
The Chair of Meat Technology

Ryszard Kowalski, Ph.D.

T. +48 618487506

M. +48 509025846

e-mail: ryszard.kowalski@up.poznan.pl

Poznań, 26.02.2019

Iryna Solonytska

Ph.D., Associate Professor,

Director of the Technological Institute of Food Industry

Odessa National Academy of Food Technologies

Head of the jury

International Competition of Student Scientific Works "Black Sea Science -2019"

Anna Soletska

Ph.D., Associate Professor,

Secretary of the jury in the field "Food Science and Technologies"

International Competition of Student Scientific Works "Black Sea Science -2019"

Dear colleagues,

At the beginning, I would like to warmly greet and thank everyone for the invitation to the Competition Jury. I would like to emphasize that there would not be this great cooperation between our universities, if it were not for the effort and engagement in making contact with Mrs. Anna Soletska.

I am full of appreciation for students taking part in the competition. I would like to give an opinion on the works sent for evaluation. Their level, in my opinion, varied, but I rate it as high. Apart from very good works, they were also a bit worse, which obviously does not diminish the effort that had to be put into their preparation. However, it seems to me that in a few cases the promoters themselves were very ambitious and tried very hard to help their students.

I like the idea of the competition very much. It is a very good platform for establishing communication between young people, now students and perhaps future scientists or specialists in the broadly understood food technology.

Personally, I like, although I am relatively shy, meeting other people, culture, cuisine and customs, so I appreciate that I could meet a team from your University!

I hope that cooperation in the scope of participation in the next edition of the competition and the potential student exchange will be continued by our centers.

With best regards,

Ryszard Kowalski